SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, SAN MATEO COUNTY, CAL., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1917.

NO. 44

E. C. PECK AND WESTERN MEAT WIN MEDALS

LAND SHOW JUDGES AWARD LOCAL EXHIBITORS HIGHEST POSSIBLE HONORS.

The efforts of those who devoted their time to the promotion of the South San Francisco exhibit for the Land Show were well repaid by the recognition of the judges in making the awards. Out of the six gold medals awarded to the county, two went to South San Francisco—one to E. C. Peck and the other to the Western Meat Company.

A gold medal was awarded E. C. Peck in the department of educational pictures and photographs. The enthusiastic thousands who viewed this collection of artistically colored pictures of South San Francisco were unstinted in praise of the exhibit, not alone for its highly educational qualities, but for the artistic arrangement which set off to such good advantage the numerous exhibits of South San Francisco and San Mateo county.

The Western Meat Company's booth, where its products were so attractively displayed, proved quite a magnet for the army of housewives who visited the show. This company was awarded a gold medal in the food products division.

Half Million Attend.

Another particularly attractive feature of the booth was the exhibit of Bessie Boston dahlias. This individual exhibit was adjudged a gold medal in addition to the gold medal awarded San Mateo county for floral culture.

The moving pictures of San Mateo county were well received and did much to impress visitors with the county's beauty and advancement in all lines of endeavor.

The general attractiveness of the exhibit housed under the San Mateo county name is well attested by the list of gold medal winners which is in total: San Mateo county, Bessie Boston, E. C. Peck, Leslie Salt Refining Company, Western Meat Company and Hillsborough Nurseries.

It is estimated that more than 500,000 people visited the San Mateo county section during the progress of the Land Show.

FOOD DEALERS TO BE LICENSED

U. S. GOVERNMENT TO REGULATE PROFITS OF WHOLESALERS AND ELIMINATE TRANSPORTATION WASTE.

Ralph Merritt, United States Food Administrator for California, on his return from Washington Tuesday issued the following statement relative to the new limitation which will be placed upon dealers by the United States Food Administration:

"On the 1st of November, in accordance with the proclamation issued by President Wilson, all dealers in food are to be licensed, with the exception of retail grocers who do less than $100,000 business per year. Every dealer in foodstuffs must send immediately to the License Bureau of the Food Administration, Washington, D. C., a statement which contains a detailed account of the business which he is carrying on, this to serve as an application, and to be sent to Washington immediately. When this application is properly filed the applicant will be furnished with the regulations under which he must conduct his business."

The following are the three points

South San Francisco--A Name

A DISTINGUISHING TITLE WHICH THIS COMMUNITY SHOULD JEALOUSLY GUARD.

When the label South San Francisco is found on any factory output anywhere in the world the identification as to location is instantly recognized. The name "South City," once you get away from home, means absolutely nothing and could apply to any community on earth. With the announced recognition, by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and other San Francisco civic bodies, of South San Francisco's place in the industrial district of the metropolis; with the emphatic designation as such by Dr. B. M. Rastall of New York, the recognized leading authority in the United States on civic industrial development; with no other place entitled officially to the name South San Francisco, and with the Government's sanction by fixing the postoffice name of South San Francisco on our community; with industries constantly being added to our manufacturing section whose prime desire is that their output shall bear the San Francisco identification mark, known the world over, the importance of our name, "South San Francisco," becomes at once manifest.

Outsiders see in this strong identification name a striking advantage to us as a municipality and attempts have been made from time to time to wish all kinds of substitute names upon this community for the purpose of weakening our copartnership with the leading metropolis of all the West.

The most recent importation is "South City," and the unthinking among our own citizens are but aiding in the obliteration of our standard and importance whenever they apply the name South City in making reference to our community.

Let us retain our identity, adhere closely to South San Francisco, and declare all other nicknames, abbreviations or alterations taboo.

ROSS AND DAVIS EXEMPTED.

Lee T. Ross, well-known attorney, and Earl Davis, San Mateo youth, have returned from American Lake, after being found physically unfit for military service.

Both men had been rejected on physical grounds by the examining physicians at San Mateo, but as an element of doubt existed among the members of the exemption board as to whether the men could stand army life, they were sent along to camp.

of the utmost importance which will be the result of the licensing:

First—All profits will be limited to the normal ante-war profits which obtained in previous years, before the war. Every dealer will be required to sell his wares at a reasonable advance on the price he actually paid for them, regardless of the market price at the time they are sold to the ultimate consumer.

Second Every effort will be made to keep food moving from the producer to the consumer by the shortest and cheapest route. Every person or process not absolutely essential to the efficient handling of food products will be eliminated. There is to be no attempt to upset the business of any person who is rendering the necessary services in connection with the handling of supplies. Only those persons who are not necessary to the speedy and cheap routing will be done away with.

Third—No dealer will be allowed to hoard food. The normal limit for which food may be held by any person or concern is sixty days.

Every food dealer is to conduct his business bearing in mind these requirements. There is no attempt on the part of the Food Administration to upset legitimate business or to do away with normal peace time profits.

The license goes into effect on the 1st of November.

EXCEEDS MINIMUM

Chairman E. R. Dixon of the Liberty Bond campaign committee has given out the following official figures on the county sale of bonds:

|---------------------|-----------|
| San Mateo | $220,250 |
| Redwood City | 161,900 |
| South San Francisco | 87,500 |
| Burlingame | 36,200 |
| Halfmoon Bay | 14,600 |
| Pescadero | 13,500 |

Total $544,950

As the minimum San Mateo county allotment was placed at $506,000, the Liberty Bond campaign committee is ordered to appear for hearing: K. Gilbert, San Jose; A. N. McDonald and C. A. Hutton, both of San Francisco.

TAXES DROP

TAX COLLECTOR McSWEENEY'S CHARGE SHOWS $50,000 DECREASE.

Tax Collector A. McSweeney has received his official charge for the collection of the 1917 taxes, which amounts to $860,188, as against $910,000 for the year 1916, a drop of approximately $50,000 under the previous year. This amount shows that the supervisors made a decided cut in the tax rate all over the county, affecting materially every district with the exception of one or two places where the special school taxes have caused a slight raise.

The improvement district formed in Lomita Park provided under the State law for sidewalk work, increased the tax rate in that district $8.50 on each $100 on real estate.

The number of assessments of the county has jumped from 30,118 in 1916 to 36,178 for this year, an increase of over 6000 assessments.

FOURTH CONTINGENT LEAVES FOR SERVICE

SMALLNESS OF NUMBER IS NO DAMPER TO ENTHUSIASM AND SEND OFF IS ROUSING.

The fourth San Mateo contingent of the Liberty Army entrained from San Mateo at 11:04 o'clock Friday. This was the smallest contingent which has left the county, there being but about fifty in the party. Although about sixty-two men were slated to go, a number were excused until the next contingent. The farewell demonstration was not affected by the smallness of the number entraining. All the grammar and high schools were given a recess and with the San Mateo high school cadet band gave the boys a rousing send off.

It is reported that the next draft movement will consist entirely of colored troops and Japanese.

The total number of colored troops to be moved is about 83,000. Of this number, Camp Lewis' quota is only 400, or less than one per cent of the 46,100 troops raised in the Western Department.

The plans of the War Department call for organizing the national army of 500,000 into sixteen divisions of white troops and one of colored troops.

Instead of concentrating all the colored men in the few cantonments of the Southern States, the policy of the War Department, it is said, will be to distribute them more or less evenly throughout the sixteen national army cantonments.

No definite date has yet been set for the moving of the balance of the national army, amounting to 15 per cent, less the colored contingent.

CITY HALL NOTES

At a special meeting of the Board of Trustees on Tuesday evening, the resignation of W. P. Acheson as night watchman was accepted. Henry McGraw was appointed to succeed him.

W. R. Emerick is temporarily filling the position of fire marshal, made vacant by the resignation of Chas. H. Woodman.

Judge Dowd imposed fines on the following for violation of traffic regulations: W. H. Kiester, San Francisco; P. Knudsen, Los Banos; J. R. Steele, San Francisco; J. M. Hunt, Berkeley, and Dr. C. D. Hyde, San Francisco. The following have been ordered to appear for hearing: K. Gilbert, San Jose; A. N. McDonald and C. A. Hutton, both of San Francisco.

BLOCK FOOD PLEDGE

Evidences of pro-German propaganda distributed throughout the United States to hamper the signing of the Hoover Food Pledge have been unearthed by the Food Administration in Washington.

Mr. Hoover warns against this menace and urges that the people of the State use every effort to bring California up to its full quota of 500,000. He declares that evidence of the same pro-German movement has been found in California, and has sent an appeal to the citizens of the State to respond to the call.

It is evident from returns now on hand in San Francisco that California will not only fulfill its obligation to the Food Administration, but by the time the last returns are tabulated will have exceeded the 500,000 minimum set by the government.

MISS CUDAHY ENDS LIFE.

Miss Helen Cudahy, first cousin of Mrs. John B. Casserly of San Mateo,

DR. DOLLEY TELLS OF BIG CONVENTION

SOME OF WORLD'S MOST NOTED SURGEONS ASSEMBLE AT CHICAGO CONVENTION.

Dr. F. S. Dolley has returned from Chicago after attendance at the American surgeons' convention, where more than 2700 surgeons, all members of the American College of Surgeons, assembled.

Papers were read and lectures given by the world's most eminent surgeons, among them Drs. Munyon of the British forces, Duval of France and Gorgas and Baird of the American army and navy service, respectively.

In a brief interview Dr. Dolley touched on some of the interesting phases of the convention. Each day was crowded with a multiplicity of activities in the way of investigation, lectures and research work, principally devoted to the great advances made in surgery since the opening of the European war. An outline of one of these days sounded more strenuous than a description of a "rookies" day in camp.

Among other queer psychological effects of wounds upon soldiers, it was stated on high authority that soldiers who receive a bullet wound rebel against being sent back to the trenches as long as the bullet remains imbedded in their bodies. Upon its removal they return as cheerfully as though they had been unscathed.

"The reception accorded Dr. Duval, surgeon-in-chief of the French forces, was extremely touching," says Dr. Dolley. Immediately the announcement of his name was made the thronged auditorium burst into cheers which continued for nearly ten minutes.

Innumerable new surgical appliances have been experimented with recently in the various base and field hospitals and many of them have been found to be highly effective.

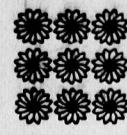

Dr. Dolley brought back with him a great many of those which demonstration and practice had proved most successful. They will be added to his new hospital equipment.

S.P. FILES DENIAL

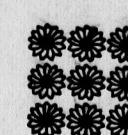

The Southern Pacific Company has filed its answer to the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce's complaint before the State Railroad Commission for reduced switching rates. The answer is the usual stereotyped form of denial, affirming that its charges are not unjust, unreasonable or discriminatory nor in violation of the public utilities act, as claimed in the complaint.

The following civic, industrial and commercial bodies of San Francisco and San Mateo counties have intervened in the case with the Chamber of Commerce: Board of Supervisors, city of San Francisco, the City and County of San Francisco, Industrial Executive Committee of Civic Associations, the Downtown Association, Mission Promotion Association, San Francisco Real Estate Board, Home Industry League, Civic League of Improvement Clubs and Associations, North Central Improvement Association, Manufacturers' Association of South San Francisco; Board of Supervisors, San Mateo county; San Mateo County Development Association; Board of Trustees, South San Francisco.

MRS. HITCHCOCK AT RED CROSS MEETING

GIVES ILLUMINATING TALK ON NEW REQUIREMENTS AND APPEALS FOR AID.

On account of the new treatment it will be necessary to change the style of dressings now. Mrs. Hitchcock visited the work rooms on Tuesday and gave a most interesting talk and instructions on the folding of the new medical strips, sponges, irrigating and absorbing pads needed in the care of the wounded.

The San Mateo chapter has been able to get wool when other branches have been unable to do so. Last week 1500 pieces were sent from San Mateo chapter, comprising three gross sweaters, three cases mufflers, 140 pairs socks and 130 pairs wristlets, which was the ratio allotted the chapter.

San Mateo chapters are supplied with machines that knit the legs for socks, and the hand knitters finish the feet. They are great labor savers.

The chapter has sent 10,400 medical dressings and our work has been so appreciated and has proven up to the standard to such an extent that we have been given a stencil for our boxes, so they will not be opened for inspection as has been the custom heretofore.

Over four million dressings, which represent six months' work, were sunk on a merchant ship last week.

The Red Cross now has thirteen warehouses in France, where supplies will be rushed.

The local Red Cross is forming junior classes in the schools. This movement has been very successful in Burlingame. The juniors have finished fifty scrapbooks, composed of stories, jokes and pictures. The plan for the junior membership is to ask each child to bring 25 cents, which enrolls them as a junior member with a Red Cross button.

The Red Cross will pay 70 cents a ton for scraps of paper, $4 a ton for better white paper, $20 a ton for newspapers folded in neat bundles.

Mrs. Hitchcock advised all workers in the work room to furnish them-

PRES. FOR SUFFRAGE

President Wilson has given full endorsement to woman suffrage as an immediate issue in every State.

Addressing a delegation of leaders of the New York State woman suffrage party who called at the White House to obtain expression in support of the campaign in that State, the president, in emphatic terms, declared that woman suffrage is one of the fundamental questions of democracy whose proper settlement is demanded by the issue of the war. He praised the spirit, capacity and vision of American women in the war.

"I believe," he said, "that just because we are quickened by the questions of this war we ought to be quickened to give this question of woman suffrage our immediate consideration."

Speaks as a Democrat.

Speaking as "one of the spokesmen of a great party," he pledged his hearty support, and added:

"I want to speak for myself and say that it seems to me that this is the time for the States of this union to take this action."

Explaining his leaning toward suffrage as a state, rather than a national issue, he said:

"I perhaps may be touched a little too much by the traditions of our politics—traditions which lay such questions almost entirely upon the states, but I want to see communities declare themselves quickened at this time and show the consequences of the quickening."

selves with white aprons for sanitary reasons. The Eastern chapters are always required to wear the full uniform, consisting of cap and apron, but for the present only the aprons will be required here.

Mrs. Hitchcock requested that a call be made from this district for clean, warm clothing and shoes for the Roumanian and Belgian sufferers, stating that the condition of these people was pitiful, the only protection for their feet being rags or sacking.

The local chapter still continues its appeal for more workers to lend as much of their time as possible on Tuesdays and Thursdays to help the Red Cross complete its ratio.

ADDRESSES CLUB

MRS. E. M. NORTH WHITCOMB SPEAKS ON HISTORY AND LANDMARKS BEFORE LOCAL WOMEN.

A most interesting lecture by Mrs. E. M. North Whitcomb marked the celebration of the History and Landmarks Day of the local Woman's Club at its meeting on Thursday.

Mrs. Whitcomb's talk included a number of personal reminiscences of pioneer California days, she being one of the early settlers, having come to California in 1843 when San Francisco was only a water front town.

An antique doll was exhibited by Mrs. Whitcomb in the course of her lecture. The doll was dressed in red calico, an old-fashioned lace-trimmed apron with the handkerchief dangling from the apron belt, an exact replica of the styles of the "fifties." Catherine Maria Theresa Anderson was the name it bore.

Following the lecture Mrs. Martin announced that on the first Thursday in December Mrs. McBean, district chairman of waterways of Los Angeles, would be the visiting speaker to the club.

WORKS FOR RED CROSS.

The Red Cross is doing a fine work, if in no other way than by teaching the children to earn their contributions. The seven-year-old son of E. C. Peck recently proved his business ability and at the same time the Red Cross is the gainer by 80 cents. When his mother returned to her from Red Cross work early this week, he proudly showed her his "Land Show" and many pennies earned by admitting the children of the neighborhood. The garage had assumed quite the air of a land show, pictures, fruits, flowers and vegetables being on display. Elders paid 2 cents.

Young Arthur was wrestling with a lesson in grammar. "Father," said he, thoughtfully, "what part of speech is woman?"

"Woman, my boy, is not part of speech she is all of it," returned father.

GOES OVER TOP

This interesting account of the first real action of Americans on the western front has been received from Paris in a recent special press cable:

The Yankees have entered into actual warfare with the boches with a vigor and purpose that bodes ill for the Hun and his kind. Great significance is being attached to the good omens marking the actual entry among all the American troops, who are tugging at their leashes and burning up in their anxiety to get into the game. All through the American camps these two facts are being dilated upon:

The first shell fired by the Americans made an exact bullseye. It was aimed at a group of twelve or fifteen boches, landed in the middle, and, when the smoke cleared and the dust settled, there were no boches.

The gun was aimed by college boys, as cool and collected and as coldly scientific as if they had been in practice on their own peaceful campus. A. Lithe, an undersized but tremendously enthusiastic Irish lad, did the firing, and the shell was preserved. It will be inscribed with the date and sent to President Wilson as a souvenir.

The first man over the top was a young lieutenant, just a fine type of the cool, nervy American who can look death in the face and smile. The Germans, forty yards away, uncourteously fired upon him, whereupon he whisked out an automatic pistol, killed one, wounded two and then beat himself to slip back into the trenches. A moment later he went back over the top and collected the three empty shells from his automatic. One he will keep, one goes to his parents and the other to a certain fair young person whom he left back in the States.

Will We Hunger?

The person who can see nothing but government red tape and fussiness in the food control measures can see very little below the surface in the present-day situation. The food control measures were not put in operation because this government had any relish for interfering with the private lives of its citizens. The fewer measures of this sort were needed the better pleased would be those in authority.

That the President insisted on and the Congress granted food control legislation, is the most conclusive of evidence that the situation called urgently for such measures.

Probably never before in history has the world faced the situation it now faces. We speak glibly of our crops in billions of bushels, forgetting also that the demand is couched in billions. We look at our bursting grainaries and overflowing barns, forgetting that across the water are millions of the world's manhood engaged entirely in consuming and destroying.

To be specific, there would have been no price set on wheat had not the government foreseen that long before a new crop could be harvested the scarcity of that cereal would send the price out of reach of all but the affluent.

But enacting food control laws and appointing executors is not, of itself, going to safeguard the country. There is another factor to the situation, and the principal one—the people. In a general way the food controllers can control the prices, but they can in no sense control consumption. This is entirely up to the people themselves. If a spirit of strict economy and conservation does not prevail throughout the land, the efforts of government will be neutralized.

It may seem like thrashing over old straw to continually refer to the urgent necessity of economy in consumption of food. But the situation calls for iteration and reiteration. Reforms come slowly. Not by once telling, or twice, or three times, do we learn the lessons of life; but by continued hammering of the same truth into our consciousness are we at last brought to see it clearly. This is our condition in the present emergency. Our past indulgence, coupled with the fact that our supply always HAS been sufficient, has lulled us into a false repose.

But the people of this country always learn the lesson when it is put squarely up to them. Last spring they were assured that to preserve the prosperity of the country a record crop of everything must be produced. To this appeal they answered loyally and enthusiastically. They are now assured that, if we would avoid hunger and want, this same seemingly bountiful supply must be carefully conserved and meted out. That they will loyally meet this demand also, we have no fear. But it will require self-denial, frugality, thrift and economy to tide us over in comfort to another harvest. But it can be done, and will be done.

Edison, the Silent

For many weary months now the world has been asking itself the question, "What is Edison doing?" and as yet there has been no definite answer. We are assured in vague terms that he is perfecting some device or devices that will have powerful influence in terminating the conflict, but the months drag on and we are as much in the dark as ever. We are mysteriously informed that he has discovered or isolated or located or invented some kind of "ray" that will burn up a battleship or town at a distance of many miles, but that "ray" has not yet illuminated our darkness. It may be that one or more of his discoveries are already in use. So, why not let the public know? Surely the bare knowledge that our faith in him is not misplaced, could work no harm. Seriously, the American people need all the encouragement they can get in the days that are before them, and if Mr. Edison's genius is still working full time it would help us to know it.

"Turnip greens," says an exchange, "is one of the most sustaining props of civilization, and yet no poet has ever been able to evolve a classic to the verdant food." Well, what in thunder would rhyme with "turnip greens?"

About the easiest advice in the world to follow these days is to observe those "meatless days."

Mr. Hoover advises this country to eat more hash. Thank you; not unless we have perfect confidence in the cook.

Since it has become known that Von Bernstorff asked his government for $50,000 to "influence Congress," many members of that body are wondering if that really wasn't Von's estimate of their price.

We all admit that half a loaf is better than no bread, but there isn't a darned bit of enthusiasm in the admission.

Cuba has no army or navy, but will build airplanes for the allies. You just can't keep freemen out of freedom's war.

Former Czar Nicholas has been consigned to life in an apartment. If Siberian janitors bear any resemblance to the American variety, his punishment is sufficient.

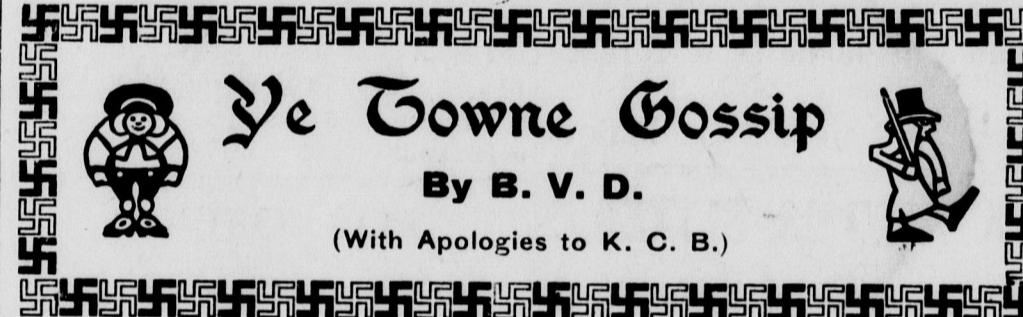

After President Wilson gets through making the world safe for democracy, will come the real tug of war for possession of the offices.

We are only beginning to understand why Bernstorff shed tears on being dismissed from this country. The field for his peculiar brand of diplomacy was so rich.

Anyhow, Boston should worry. The bean crop is a record one.

USE FOR VACANT LOTS.

People Urged to Raise Vegetables and Prepare For a Lean Winter.

It is a world of lean years, says the New York Times. Its food lies in this year's crop. The reserves will be exhausted at the end of the crop year. The outlook is not too rosy. The English wheat crop is reported backward, the Dutch small. French wheat will yield less than usual. Argentina will have little wheat or corn to export. The Australian wheat crop is estimated at nearly 50,000,000 bushels less than last year's. Our big winter wheat crops have not had moisture enough. Early vegetables in the southern states have been nipped by frost. So the shortage goes.

Food prices are high already. This carelessness, easy going America must remember, plant and prepare for next winter. We thing nearly all of us outside the cities, and many urban, can do. That is to raise all we can of the common vegetables, so easy to raise, thriving almost everywhere, so large a part of our food. We can't import them. We must grow them; and they should be grown in quantities unheard of before, grown by the rich—and the more they sell the better—by the poor, by the great mass that is neither. Beans, onions, peas, potatoes and the rest, these should be the crop of everybody with land enough to bend over.

Selectmen, town committees, town trustees and councilors, spy out the vacant cultivable land and see that it is tickled with the plow. Commuters, who farm for exercise and pleasure, or say you do, this is the spring when you need to farm for business. More ground for garden this year; and garden for vegetables, not for ornament.

H. S. PLAY SELECTED

(Charles A. Sands.)

The South San Francisco high school circus, held for the purpose of swelling the soldiers' library fund, proved a greater success than was ever expected.

At a conference held by the P. A. L. League at San Mateo last Saturday, a schedule of basketball games has been arranged between the six Peninsula high schools. The first one to be held here will be between San Jose and South San Francisco, on December 15th. Every day our high school boys have been practicing, and on Wednesday evenings they are coached by Howard Reichardt, San Mateo high school graduate and a former student of this high school. In this manner a team has been perfected which, it is expected, can successfully compete with any outside teams.

In a game held three weeks ago with St. James, the local high won by a score of 33-29.

To Play "Esmeralda."

The high school play, "Esmeralda," will be given the last week of November. It is a comedy-drama and portrays the struggle between father and daughter against the vanity and ambition of the mother, who, having come into sudden riches, threatens the happiness of the whole family.

The following cast has been chosen: Mr. Elbert Rogers (a North Carolina farmer), Angelo Scampini; Mrs. Lydia Ann Rogers (his wife), Mary Kauffmann; Miss Esmeralda Rogers (his daughter), Sylvia Doak; Dave Hardy (a young North Carolinian), Byrne McSweeney; Mr. Estabrook (gentleman of leisure), James Smith; Mr. Jack Desmond (American artist in Paris), Joe Mahoney; Miss Nora Desmond (his sister), Loretta McLean; Miss Kate Desmond (his sister), Beatrice Ekerenkotter; Marquis de Montessin (a French adventurer), Tom Becker; George Drew (an American capitalist), Charles Sands; Sophie (a maid), Anna Fee.

Practically all those taking part have had amateur dramatic experience, and it is expected to make the play a great success.

Due to a change in time schedule the Adelphia Debating Club meetings have been somewhat hampered. But the spirit is not dead and a debate with an outside school is soon to be planned.

In the past few weeks basketball activities have been resumed. The return game played with St. James was won by the city boys by one point, 36-35. The game was very fast. At the end of the first half the score was 26-19 in favor of our team. In the second half our boys slowed down and were nosed out in a very exciting half by one point. The feature of the game was the goal tossing by Jimmie Smith. As it stands now, St. James is tied with the locals.

On the same day the girls' basketball team lost to San Mateo by the overwhelming score of 54 to 4. The local girls' team motored to San Jose in Miss Wilkinson's machine.

In the Screen World

By special arrangement The Enterprise has secured a series of interesting stories and biographies of noted screen stars. This feature will be part of each edition.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS.

A distinct character in the photoplay world, Douglas Fairbanks is one of the three most popular stars of the screen. The smiling face of this athletic exponent of Americanism has gladdened the hearts of people in many parts of the globe. To quote George Clegg in "Laugh and Live," the popular book by Douglas Fairbanks, "He is what every American might be, ought to be, and frequently is not. More than any other that comes to mind, he is possessed of the indomitable optimism that gives purpose, 'punch' and color to any life, no matter what the odds."

Born in Denver, Colo., in May, 1883, it was the proud ambition of his parents to see Douglas a mining king, and after graduating from the Denver high school and Jarvis Military Academy, he was sent to the School of Mines at Golden, Colo. Before he had learned very much about sciences, art and ethics of mining, however, he saw Frederick Warde in his repertoire of classic plays and promptly decided that as a mere capitalist he would be wasting time. At Richmond, Va., he made his first appearance with Mr. Warde in the role of Francois in "Richelieu." In speaking about his initial stage work, the energetic actor recently said: "In my first characterization and in that of Florio in 'The Duke's Jester,' which followed, I failed to make any perceptible dent in the classic drama, but I probably wore the most astonishing costumes ever beheld on the native stage, having been fitted out by a well-meaning but misguided wardrobe mistress in odds and ends of ancient, modern and medieval garb." So successfully did his costume affect the players who happened to be on the stage whenever he made his entrance, that Mr. Warde released him without visible signs of pain to Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon in "Her Lord and Master."

This engagement brought him to New York, where he first appeared at the Manhattan Theatre in 1902. Later engagements included his appearance with Minnie Dupree, Alice Fisher, William A. Brady's "The Pit" and "Two Little Sailor Boys." Among his more recent theatrical portrayals which will be well remembered, were those in "Hawthorne, U. S. A.," "A Gentleman of Leisure," "Officer 666," "He Comes Up Smiling" and "The Henrietta." His last appearance on the stage was in "A Regular Business Man," in which he attracted wide attention in 1915.

The initial photoplay in which the happy Douglas appeared was "The Lamb," and the results attained in this offering immediately settled the matter of his future activities. Among his other film hits were "The Double's Trouble," "The Habit of Happiness," "Manhattan Madness," "Reggie Mixes In" and "The Americano."

In the beginning of 1917 Douglas Fairbanks announced that he would appear in pictures at the head of his own company, to be released through Artcraft Pictures. His initial film under this arrangement was "In Again—Out Again," which scored one of the greatest successes of his entire career. Following this photoplay was "Wild and Woolly," which was immediately proclaimed a better vehicle for his inimitable style than even his first release. Douglas Fairbanks is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 165 pounds. He is an all-round athlete and always in the pink of condition. One of the most popular actors this country has ever known, he is also the proud father of a sturdy boy and the devoted husband of a sweet woman who is his constant companion in work and at play.

A CORDIAL BOOST

There are many people to tell us how the paper should be run—whenever they wish to adversely criticize. The following is, therefore, doubly welcome because of its cordial spirit of boostful appreciation. Thanks, doctor:

If individuals boost one-half as much as your valuable paper does it's a sure thing South San Francisco would grow beyond the fondest expectations of the people. STOLEN HUMOR

A Celestial Rebuke.

Charles B. Towns, the anti-drug champion, spent some time in China several years ago with Samuel Merwin, the writer. In a Hongkong shopwindow they noticed some Chinese house-coats of particularly striking designs and stepped in to purchase one. Mr. Towns asked Mr. Merwin to do the bargaining.

"Wantum coatee," said Mr. Merwin to the sleepy-eyed Oriental who shuffed up with a grunt. He placed several of the coats before them.

"How muchee Melican monee?" inquired Mr. Merwin.

"It would aid me in transacting this sale," said the Chinaman, "if you would confine your language to your mother tongue. The coat is seven dollars."

Mr. Merwin took it.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

WISE WIFEY.

Governor Livingston Beckham of Rhode Island said in Providence, apropos of the gigantic strides that the temperance movement is taking:

"The whole country now seems to look at excess as the young wife did.

"Jim, dear," said a young wife, "I do wish you'd stop drinking. Every time you go to one of those banquets of yours you get up the next morning pale and silent, you eat nothing, you just gulp down ten or fifteen glasses of water. Do stop drinking, won't you? I know it can't be good for you, dear."

"All great men have been drinking men," said Jim. "Look at Poe, at Charles Lamb, look at Burns, look at—"

"Well, Jim," said the young wife, "you just swear off till you become a great man, too, and I'll be satisfied." —Washington Star.

Here are the five tests the aviation recruit must successfully pass for "balance," the first and most important of all examinations:

1. Recruit is placed in chair and revolved to the right and left ten times in twenty seconds. If the eyes then remain motionless the condition is abnormal; if they show a perceptible twitching the condition is normal.

2. If the recruit is normal he will say he is revolving to the left for the same length of time after being stopped suddenly from revolving to the right.

3. After being turned in the different directions, the recruit, with eyes closed, raises right and left arms above head separately in attempting to bring his hand on a level with outstretched finger of examiner. If he is unswerving in this test the condition is abnormal.

4. Recruit brings knees together with heels touching and rests head over knees during the same period of revolution, right and left. Raising up after the chair has stopped, he will lose his balance and nearly topple off if his balance is normal.

5. If the recruit can step out of the chair after the series of revolutions and walk a straight line without unusual effort his balance is not normal.

LAST CHANCE TO SIGN FOOD PLEDGEFOOD ADMINISTRATOR CALLS FOR 500,000 SIGNATURES FROM CALIFORNIA TO MAKE UP ITS QUOTA

To-morrow ends one of the most important campaigns conducted by the United States Government since the beginning of the war, that of the Food Pledge, which binds every signer to do his or her utmost toward the conservation of food and the elimination of waste in every household. According to unofficial returns that have been received from Washington, the United States has responded nobly to the call of Mr. Hoover, and from present indications more than 22,000,000 families have signed the food pledge. Unofficial returns also show that California is well on its way toward the 500,000 signature mark asked from this State by Mr. Hoover. There is still time to send the State's quota soaring above every other State in the United States, based on a percentage of population. If you have not signed the food pledge at this time, do so at once, and return it to the offices of the United States Food Administration in San Francisco.

Reports have been received from

"We knew we had friends all over the State," commented H. F. Stoll, secretary of the organization that is conducting the campaign for names, "but we were hardly prepared for the enthusiastic co-operation we have received from people in every walk of life—leading ministers, captains of industry, professors, physicians, women's clubs, public officials and farmers who grow other fruits than grapes.

"We were told that the labor movement would be against the Rominger bill, but this prophecy has proven unfounded. Working men and their wives by the thousands have signed our petitions in San Francisco, especially at the California Land Show, where four of our solicitors have brought in from 600 to 1,000 names each day.

"We will get the names in due time, but we need the assistance of every person who believes in the principles of the Rominger bill. Not only must they sign the petitions themselves, but see that their friends are reached, for the greater the number of signatures, the greater will be the majority registered in favor of this meritorious measure when it is voted on in November, 1918."

Following his marriage to Mrs. Watson of Campaign, Ill., about six years ago, he left here and took up his residence in Oakland. The deceased was 41 years of age and a native of Nebraska. Funeral services were held in Fruitvale last Saturday.

Don't forget that your soldier boy friends at Camp Lewis will be pleased with a letter from you occasionally. Nothing affords more real pleasure than a letter from the old home town.
